BANK'S LOSSES
WILL INCREASE
IN THE FUTURE*Report of Auditors on Bank of North Dakota Says Depreciation Will Be Felt*REVIEWS BANK'S HISTORY*Final Report on State Industries Takes Bank Condition From The Beginning

Final settlement of business of the Bank of North Dakota originating under its previous management will materially increase the losses of the bank, now placed at $160,475.64, according to conclusions drawn in the audit report of Bishop, Brissman and Company, made public today. The report is the fourth and last of the reports made by that firm of the operation of the state industries for the new Industrial Commission. It covers a period of the bank's operation from July, 1919 to December 12, 1921.

"It is apparent," says the report, "that a considerable amount of the assets will be slow of liquidation and realization, and considerable ultimate losses of these assets will be sustained which will correspondingly increase the book deficit."

The auditors, in making their compilations, listed all assets at face value, the report says and adds that "no reserves were computed by us to provide for such depreciation."

Insufficient collateral required for loans, losses in loans to closed banks and farm loans on which money has been paid out but which cannot be completed because of unpaid taxes or lack of good title on the land are among the items pointed out as leading to further losses in the bank.

Find Improved Condition

The auditors, however, find an improved condition under the new management of the bank by C. R. Greene and the new Industrial Commission, including a marked reduction in expenses, revision of records and more careful consideration of loans made.

The heaviest loss sustained in the operation of the bank was during the year 1921, the report shows. During the year 1919, when the bank was in operation for about six months it sustained a book loss of $4,795.82, showed a profit of $74,924.07 in 1920 and a loss of $220,603.89 in 1921 up to December 12, according to the report.

Discussing the bank reports issued under its former management which showed great profit the audit company shows that these profits were "paper profits" and were arrived at in large measure by crediting to the bank interest on bank bonds which had not been sold. In the year 1919 the bank credited up to $47,324.04 interest on bank bonds received and accrued, but the bank did not charge itself with any interest on the bank series bonds, the report says. The bank also credited to itself discounts and commissions paid on bond sales, which represented a loss, and accrued interest in closed banks.

"Thawing out" of "frozen assets" under the new bank management is reflected in the statement that the "frozen assets" now total $2,096,481.73. At the peak they totalled several million dollars.

Criticism of Farm Loans

A condition of which there is severe criticism implied is the ability of the bank to transfer $119,176.26 of farm loans to the state treasurer because the loans, although made in 1919 and 1920, are still uncompleted.

The first loan made by the farm loan department of the bank—loan No. 1, application No. 9—to James W. Pauley, Aug. 16, 1919, "is still uncompleted and in an unsatisfactory condition," the report says.

Included in the amount of loans on which bonds cannot be issued because they are in unsatisfactory condition are four loans to D. J. McMahon, the report says. They amount to $25,000 and are dated January 2, 1920. The report says: "These loans were later covered by one blanket mortgage. No interest was paid on this mortgage to date of audit, and we were advised that the taxes on the properties were also unpaid."

"In detail No. 16 are listed the farm loan special deposits in the open banks, of $64,490.00," the report says. "These deposits were made to provide funds to clear up the incumbrance of these properties for which loans had been applied for. You will observe that of these deposits two were made in 1919, twelve in 1920 and one in January 1921. It would seem that the completion of these loans is unusually slow." Farm loan deposits in closed banks amount to $48,600.00.

Among the loans of the bank is one of $28,972.02 to the Equity Co-operative Packing Company, Fargo, which is in the hands of a receiver. The report says the security to this is a mortgage on some land, that an executed deed is on file "but owing to unpaid taxes thereon of $6,972.02, the deed had not been recorded."

Place of Heaviest Losses

The greatest losses which will be sustained by the bank are in transactions with closed banks, it is anticipated. The total liabilities of closed banks to the Bank of North Dakota amount to $1,682,765.57.

"These assets," the report says, "are stated at full face value, but it is apparent that the final liquidation (and the liquidation will be slow) will result in a very large depreciation of the said assets and will correspondingly increase the book deficit."

The Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo, now closed, had incurred an overdraft of $15,874.01 when it closed, according to the audit report. The bank has $222,098.20 in deposits and $138,794.51 in loans, the report shows.

NAMED IN BANK FRAUD

Everett R. Peacock, former president of the Milwaukee-Irving State Bank, Chicago, is one of seven against whom the state's attorney says he will ask indictments. The bank, officials charge, was looted of $488,000. Peacock has issued a statement saying he knows nothing of the missing funds.

From Grand Forks Office Total Amount of Loans*MOSTLY IN NORTH DAKOTA

All applications for federal seed loans must be completed and in the local office by May 1, according to C. W. Warburton, director of disbursements in an announcement made from the Grand Forks office. As the time is short, Mr. Warburton advises all possible speed on the part of any farmers who have not already taken steps to secure them.

The latest figures from the Grand Forks office show that a total of 2,691 loans have been made in five states, North Dakota, Montana, South Dakota, Washington, and Idaho, to the amount of $368,231.49. In the state of North Dakota which has received the greatest amount of aid, 1,644 loans have been made in 26 counties, the total amount of which is $235,309.55. Hettinger county is first with 276 loans for $43,907.00. Bottineau county has stepped into third with 231,470.00 and is the only county outside of the southwest section that is drawing a large amount of loans. Slope county is second with $33,231.50.

Montana has made 959 loans to the amount of $125,211.7, while South Dakota is third with 87 loans. Two have been made in Washington and but one in Idaho.

The loans and amounts by counties in North Dakota follow:

OVER BY WIND
AT THE RIVER*Wire Communication Between Mandan and Bismarck Interrupted, Train Held Up*WIND SWEEPS RIVER*Heaviest Blow is Along Course
Of Missouri—Wind Velocity
62 Miles an Hour

A high wind which apparently followed the course of the Missouri river about midnight Saturday blew over a 110-foot tower of the Hughes Electric Company, on the west side of the river bank. The tower carried high tension wires which current is sent to the N. P. shops in Mandan. When the tower fell across the railroad embankment it knocked down Western Union telegraph and N. P. wires, cutting off communication. The midnight N. P. train was held up for an hour and a half while the track was cleared. The wires were being repaired yesterday and today.

The wind also took the roof off the engine room of the Hughes Electric Company plant in Bismarck, and a big sign board at the corner of Main and Third streets. Several trees in the city were broken off by the force of the wind.

Some fencing at the Bismarck baseball park was blown down.

A few telephone circuits were out on account of the windstorm, but no reports of serious damage were received. The wind blew hard all over the western part of the state.

According to the local weather bureau the wind reached a velocity of 62 miles an hour for a brief time about 9:15 p. m. Saturday.

A half-dozen plate glass windows were broken in Mandan, and several trees were blown down.

Against Collection of Hughes Electric Tax

Argument was expected to be heard today in district court on a motion to dissolve an injunction granted to Hughes Electric Company against the sheriff of Burleigh county on an order to him from the state tax commissioner to proceed to levy on property of the company for taxes.

George E. Wallace, former tax commissioner, is appearing as attorney for the county, having been retained by the county commissioners.

Alleging the company had failed to pay approximately $28,000 taxes covering a period of two or three years, Wallace, when tax commissioner, instructed the sheriff to levy on the company's property. The injunction was granted by Judge Berry. The company had disputed the assessments on its property for the period named in suits in court.

KIDDER STATES

(Special to The Tribune)

Steele, N. D., April 24.—Arne Vinje, attorney of Steele, was named states attorney by the board of county commissioners meeting in special session here Saturday afternoon, to fill the place made vacant by the death of Charles O. Seagren. Mr. Vinje formerly was county judge and has practiced law in Steele for several years. He is not of the same political faith as his predecessor in office.

Mr. Seagren passed away Easter Sunday. He was county judge of Kidder county for four years. He retired to his farm and studied law there. He was admitted to the bar after he had been elected states attorney of Kidder county in 1920. The body was sent to Sheyenne, N. D. for burial.

Mr. Seagren was survived by his father, F. O. Seagren, of Robinson, one brother, Edward, of Steele, and a sister, Mrs. Nellands, of Duluth.

Customs officials claimed to have received word from the crew to effect that pirates held up the chaser yesterday afternoon 20 miles off Mon-tauk Point, Long Island, boarded the craft and with drawn revolvers bound the commander to the mast and seized the chaser's cargo of liquor.

John Appleby, prohibition chief of the second division, after questioning the crew, said he believed that a bootlegging ring already had smuggled more than $2,000,000 worth of liquor into the United States.

"We are working to smash a bootlegging ring that is believed to have bought these ex-submarine chasers to bring whiskey into America under the guise that the craft are U. S. naval vessels," he said.

"Pep and Prosperity" meeting being held all over the United States, setting forth the facts that the depression is practically over, unemployment is disappearing, crop prospects are good, prices for farm products are jumping up and that the clouds of agriculture are fast passing.

The Great Northwest already heads the procession advancing on prosperity and will maintain that place in years to come.

Tractor Advances Northwest

The rapid extension in agriculture in the Northwest has been brought about by the use of the tractor. The use of tractors is rapidly increasing and the manufacture of them and of equipment for them is becoming one of the great industries of the country. The Northwest especially is far advanced in the introduction of tractors because it is a great grain growing country and its progressive farmers have always been in the lead in the use of up-to-date machines.

The tractor is now a thoroughly practical, dependable machine, cheap of operation and efficient for both tractor power and belt work. In other words, not only will it pull plows, harrows, seeders and reapers, but it also will operate thrashers, silo fillers, grain shellers and huskers—jobs which horses cannot do. The tractor is really an all-around farm power plant.

According to extensive records of operation of tractor and horse farms which have been kept, figures show that the tractor for the medium size and large farm does cheaper, faster and better work, and greatly increases the crop yields. Reports show that deep plowing done at the right time with tractor power results in an increased yield of 25 percent per acre.

Prices Are Lower

Farmers are rapidly becoming accustomed to the use of tractors and soon they will be considered as indispensable to the average farm as the automobile for transportation.

The coming into universal use of the tractor will mean a new epoch for American agriculture.

Tractor prices today are lower than ever before which not only means lower cost for farm work, but places the mechanical power plant within easy reach of thousands of farmers, who could not afford a tractor at the prices which prevailed a few years ago.

Bar le Duc, France, April 24.—By the A. P.—Premier Poincare announced in a speech here today that if the French delegation at Genoa could not go ahead with its work under the agreed conditions France would regretfully have to cease participation in the conference.

Referring to the Russo-German treaty signed last week at Rapallo the premier said:

"That accord brings out into the full light the sympathies that had developed in the darkness between the Bolsheviks and the Germans. How many persons wrested from their confidence of yesterday will not now admit that the cabinet was right in desiring to insist for the moment on eighteen months military service."

"France will, if necessary, undertake alone to see that the treaty of Versailles is executed if the Germans default in their reparations payments, Mr. Poincare indicated."

WILL SUBSCRIBE TO PACT.

Genoa, April 24.—(By the A. LLOYD GEORGE WEARY.

Genoa, Italy, April 24.—David Lloyd George, premier of England, is growing weary of crises in the Genoa conference and with the countries that cause them, according to a dispatch which Henry Wickham Stead, correspondent of the London Times, sent his paper.

Stead further said:

"Conversing with some of the delegates Mr. Lloyd George declared that if France broke up the conference she would bring on a European war in which England would take no part. France would end by being crushed. He was determined to show where the blame lay."

CAN'T SURRENDER PROPERTY.

Washington, April 24.—Justice Bailey, in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, today ruled that the alien property custodian cannot be required to surrender the property of Grover C. I. H. S. TO HOLD CONVENTION OF DEALERS HERE

Harvester Family "Get Together" and "Drive Away" of Trucks Is Planned

MANY COMING TO CITY

On Tuesday, April 25, the Bismarck Branch of International Harvester Company will hold a Harvester Family "Get Together" or convention for all International dealers in their territory. A hundred or more important dealers from twenty surrounding counties are expected to be here in order to attend the meeting on that day.

Several Harvester Company officials from the General Office in Chicago will be here to help conduct the "Get Together" which will be held in the Harvester building. Sales policies and plans for financing the farmers will be discussed. Luncheon will be served at noon and a banquet in the evening followed by a smoker.

In spite of adverse crop conditions for the past four or five years, farmers in western North Dakota and eastern Montana have not lost their courage, which is evidenced by the fact that there will be little, if any, decrease in wheat acreage and a remarkable increase in corn acreage and forage crops.

The Harvester Company can confirm the statement that the courage of the implement dealers in western North Dakota and eastern Montana is at a high pitch and the evidence of this statement is the fact that about fifty dealers in the Bismarck territory have purchased "Red Baby" Speed Trucks with which to canvass their territory and furnish service to their former customers.

"Red Baby" is the designation used for the specially equipped International Speed Truck now being used for Sales and Service purposes by thousands of enterprising McCormick-Deering dealers throughout the United States and Canada. These trucks are all painted in a uniform brilliant red with the dealer's name and other wording in gold lettering, making a beautiful and distinctive color combination.

About thirty of these "Red Baby" Sales and Service Trucks have already arrived at Bismarck and will be delivered during the coming week. In fact, many of the dealers who attend the "Get Together" meeting will drive their trucks home loaded with implements to partially supply the needs of their customers.

The International Harvester Company and their dealers are firmly convinced that western North Dakota and eastern Montana is in excellent basic condition and when the 1922 crop is harvested that we will, indeed, be on the high road to renewed prosperity.

DODGE BROTHERS CHIEFS ADVANCE

Matheson Becomes Vice-President; Nichols Is General Sales Manager

Several important changes in the executive personnel are announced by Dodge Brothers. C. W. Matheson has been advanced from general sales manager to vice-president in charge of sales; John A. Nichols, Jr., promoted from director of field operations to general sales manager; John H. Gordon, from New York district representative to director of distribution. Mr. Gordon succeeds J. B. French who resigned to take over the Dodge Brothers dealership in San Francisco, where he maintained his headquarters for several years as Dodge Brothers district representative.

Mr. Matheson, the new vice-president has been an important figure in the automobile industry for many years. With his brother, Frank Matheson, he built and marketed one of the first higher priced cars in the field. When Dodge Brothers began manufacturing a car of their own he became New York district representative and a few years later was advanced to the home office as director of service. His appointment as general sales manager followed in 1920.

Mr. Nichols, the new general sales manager, has also been on the executive staff of Dodge Brothers from the time they first began building cars. He was for five years Seattle district representative, then was advanced to the New York office. It was from the latter post that he was called, in January of the present year, to become director of field operations.

Mr. Gordon's first appointment with Dodge Brothers also dates back to 1915. He was Atlanta district representative. After a few years in this capacity he was sent to London to represent Dodge Brothers on the British Isles. For some time after his return he was district representative in Dallas Texas, and then became district representative in New York. He will begin his new duties as director of distribution within a few weeks.

FORD SALES SHOW RAPID INCREASE

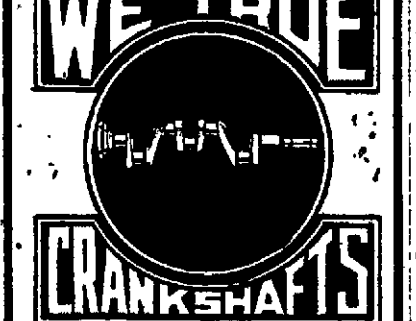

Rush of Orders Boosts April Output to 101,164

Ford retail sales showed a rapid increase in volume during March, says a report from the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, and have necessitated the building of 101,164 Ford cars and trucks in April in order to meet the requirements.

This is the largest output of Ford cars ever scheduled for April, being 10,000 above the same month of year ago. It also marks an early opening of the spring and summer buying and seems to indicate that even more Ford cars and trucks will be sold in 1922 than in 1921, which was a banner year.

Orders for Ford cars and trucks have already exceeded the supply in many parts of the country and purchasers are finding it necessary to accept deferred delivery. The Ford factory at Detroit is getting into capacity production as fast as possible, with the hope of preventing a similar shortage when the spring-summer rush begins.

Ford dealers throughout the United States are urging Ford customers to place their orders early and thus prevent the possibility of having to wait for delivery.

The crankshaft that has lost its perfect alignment—that has "whipped"—is no longer true—is made perfect again HERE.

Also, we regrind its bearing surfaces so that these are true—removing thereby all the noise and danger that lurk in ovalized and scored bearing surfaces.

SETTLE SUIT OUT-OF COURT

Dickinson, April 22.—A law suit of considerable importance was settled in district court Monday, when the contending parties in the case of Fred Madson versus George Immel got together on common ground.

The case involved the sale of the Madson farm of 300 acres, six miles southeast of Taylor in 1918, to George Immel. The consideration was fixed at $44,000, which was to include all personal property on the place at the time. A cash payment of $10,000 was made at the time of the signing of the contract for deed and a chattel mortgage for $12,000 was given. In October, 1921, Madson served notice of cancellation of contract and attempted to foreclose the mortgage and it was to settle the matter that the action was brought in the courts. Under the terms of the settlement Madson was given back the land while the personal property is turned over to Immel, who will occupy the farm during the remainder of the year and get all the 1922 crop.

NESTOS FOR ASSOCIATION

Governor Nestos has endorsed the efforts of the Mississippi Valley association in promoting greater development of the resources of the states in and contiguous to the valley and in promoting the development of inland waterways.

Hope that some citizens of North Dakota will be able to attend the fourth annual meeting of the association in Kansas City, April 25-26, is expressed by the governor. The state highway commission has been requested to furnish considerable data concerning North Dakota for use at the meeting.

Among the projects of the association which it is believed would aid North Dakota is carried out are development of inland waterways, better marketing facilities for agricultural states and development of the Missouri river for steamboat transportation.

WILL REPLENISH STUDENT'S FUND

Dickinson, N. D., April 22.—For the purpose of replenishing the student's loan fund of the Dickinson Normal school founded by them, more than a year ago, the ladies of the P. E. O. Sisterhood will hold a food sale at the Red Cross rooms in the First National bank building today.

The loan fund, which was established by the ladies and added to by state endowment and public subscription, has been of great help and benefit to the students of the institution during the past year. At the present time 14 students are benefitting from these loans which to date total $655.

Anticipating a greater demand on the fund during the coming year and especially during the summer months, the P. E. O. desires to raise as much as is possible for this purpose and asks the co-operation of Dickinson people generally in helping it to attain the objective.

NO NEW TAX IN SOLDIER BONUS M'CUMBER SAYS

Chairman of Finance Committee Indicates Changes To Be Made in Measure

Washington, April 24.—The soldier bonus bill will impose no new taxation, Senator P. J. McCumber announced, following a meeting of finance committee Republicans to begin work on the measure.

McCumber indicated that the present intention of the Republicans is to frame a bill along these lines:

Increase the cash bonus limit from $50 as it passed the house to $100.

Leave it up to the treasury to issue certificates of indebtedness to meet the bulk of the first year's payment.

Pay the rest of the bonus out of the proceeds of the foreign war debt.

The Republicans have been fully aroused to the threat of Democratic leaders to take over the bonus legislation as a Democratic campaign asset. Accordingly, Republicans are now determined that they will meet the bonus squarely, act on it without delay and take the consequences, whatever they may be.

They are also determined the bonus bill must not impose new taxes on the people at this time. It must however, carry the means for paying the former service men entitled to its benefits. Therefore, the plan of issuing treasury certificates of indebtedness is daily gaining more support. In the end, money must be raised somewhere to retire the certificates if they are issued.

Economies to Aid.

McCumber indicated the belief that economies in appropriations will go a long way towards providing for the bonus. The ship subsidy, the good roads appropriation and other similar funds may therefore be refused by congress for the present to make possible the payment of the bonus in cash. This, of course, will cause strenuous opposition from subsidy advocates and those interested in the good roads movement. President Harding will be urged to insist on the subsidy bill being passed this season. But in the view of those who attended the recent Republican caucus, the bonus pledge must be redeemed by the party, while other things must wait.

The idea of the Republican leaders is to tie themselves over next year. By that time they expect the funding of the foreign war debt and increased tax revenues due to a growing volume of business to make their financial problem much simpler.

SUGGESTS FORT FOR MANEUVERS

Major Harold Sorenson Urges Use of Post Here

Failure of two cities allotted companies in the National Guard is holding up the appointment of a colonel for the North Dakota regiment's Companies F, Mandan, and K. Division, have yet to complete their organization, if a full regiment is to be represented in the state encampment, to be held June 11-25 at Devils Lake. During the conference there was discussion as to centralizing artillery in the seventh corps area at a point where maneuvers could be held. Major Sorenson suggested Fort Lincoln Bismarck, as a good place for storage of artillery and also for holding maneuvers. The suggestion was taken under consideration.

FARGO SEEKING NEW HOSPITAL

Makes Campaign To Get $2,000,000 Building Erected There

Fargo, N. D., April 24.—A hospital for soldiers afflicted with mental diseases may be erected in Fargo if a campaign under way by the Fargo Commercial club and the American Legion is successful. This hospital will cost $2,000,000 and will accommodate 500 patients.

Senator P. J. McCumber from North Dakota definitely pledged his support to Fargo at a conference with a committee comprising M. W. Murphy, P. W. Clemens and Dr. J. Lee Souder, Fargo, when in the city recently.

The Fargo Commercial club has promised to contribute a site for the erection of the hospital building.

Minneapolis is staging an active campaign to have the hospital erected there. Bismarck has been mentioned as an excellent place, especially in view of the opportunities offered to utilize the Fort Lincoln buildings.

$21,000 PAID OUT

Dickinson, N. D., April 24.—More than $21,000 has been paid to Stark county applicants for seed loans through the federal disbursing office at Grand Forks Friday according to County Auditor J. L. Hughes who is in charge of the work in Stark county. This amount involved payment on 124 applications.

There have been 304 applications passed on by the county committee for seed loans averaging about $250 per application and aggregating $45,000. The committee also has on hand nineteen applications which it expected to immediately consider and then forward the same to the Grand Forks office.

ANALYZING WILSON'S WRITING

WOODROW WILSON AND HIS SIGNATURE

BY ALBERT J. SMITH

The specimen shown here was written by Woodrow Wilson in 1912. Wilson pens the abducent form of writing with tendencies to the adduct. This shows he is of amiable disposition with a keen mind, modified by calmness and a certain dullness of perception—particularly on matters of little concern to him.

The tendency is to small writing, with the forward or right slope. Persons who write in this manner are conservative, tactful and have much force of character. Small writing also indicates intellectuality and the desire for knowledge. No person of mediocre ability ever writes the small hand.

Greek "d" That Wilson is trained in literary matters is attested to by his frequent use of the Greek form of the letter "d." It is the confirmative sign of literary ability.

The high cast of the "d" stem in Woodrow, which is a variation of his Greek form, signifies dignity, self-respect and a high sense of honor. Wilson's script is simple and plain. Persons who write in this manner are unaffected, unassuming, honest, dutiful, modest and of good character. His writing is uniform and well spaced; this implies a well-balanced mind. The small writing confirms this.

There is a slight tendency to hastiness. This denotes Wilson has the ability to accomplish much without effort.

Wilson frequently joins his words. This denotes a critical mind, skeptical of what is not understood. This feature also signifies he is keen minded, shrewd, logical, hard to convince.

Wilson possesses business ability, literary tastes, mental culture and an artistic temperament, therefore he writes with plain capitals.

The high dot over the "i" in Wilson, the open "o's" in Woodrow, and the high upstroke of the looped small letter "d" stamp him a man of honor, of the highest integrity with a love of justice. He is the type of man who cannot be swerved from a line of duty.

80-YEAR-OLD SENATOR SUED

Fairmont, Minn., April 24.—The trial of Senator Albert Ward, 80 years old, of Fairmont, defendant in a $75,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Viola Limberg, of Fairmont, began in district court here today.

Mrs. Limberg alleged in her complaint that on August 14 Senator Ward "wrongfully, maliciously and indecently assaulted her, forcibly hugging and kissing her."

VENUE CHANGE IS REFUSED

Hearing in the Cahill-Murphy case will be heard in the district court at Mandan tomorrow morning. Judge Berry on Saturday afternoon refused the petition for change of venue presented on behalf of the defendant members of the board of administration.

CARSON STUDENT WINS

Carson N. D., April 24.—Reynold Schlosser, Carson high school student, won fifth prize in an All-American editorial contest given by the Central Intercollegiate Press association recently, in which hundreds of schools in the union were represented.

The other four prizes were awarded to students at Great Falls, Mont., Bangor, Me.; Milwaukee, Wis., and Chicago, Ill.

Harvey Botten, also a student of the Carson high school, received honorable mention.

RECOGNIZE RESERVATION.

Van Hook, N. D., April 24.—The anti-Townley forces of Mountrail county met in convention at Stanley and endorsed a full legislative ticket. The most important thing to the Berthold reservation and the south half of the county was the endorsement of Bernie W. Maurek, of Van Hook as representative from this district to the state legislature.

The reservation is bound to come to the front. It is the first time such representation has been accorded the reservation.

CITY RECOVERS $1,348.80 FROM BURLEIGH CO.

Payment Made Under Mothers' Pensions Ordered Returned to The City

Judge Nuesse in district court has granted the city of Bismarck judgment of $1,348.80 against Burleigh county on account of money erroneously paid by the city for Mothers' Pension payments by the county.

The complaint of the city stated that on August 26, 1920, the county filed a bill $1,348.80 with the city, being 25 percent of the Mothers' Pension paid out. Under the poor law the city pays 25 percent of the money advanced to the poor residents of the city and the county 75 percent. The city had been charged for Mothers' Pension payments under this law.

It is held by the supreme court that cities could not be made to pay part of the Mothers' Pension allowances, and the city of Bismarck sought to recover money paid out for this purpose. The county demurred to the suit filed and then failing to answer within 20 days the judgment was handed down Saturday.

AT THE THEATERS

Tears and Laughter Blend Happily in The Old Oaken Bucket

Mary Tully's screen version of "The Old Oaken Bucket," scheduled for a two-day run at the Capitol theater, beginning tonight, is a story sprinkled with smiles and tears and memories.

Adapted from the old song near and dear to millions of people, "The Old Oaken Bucket" is a heart-throbbing story of childhood days as every man and woman has lived them. "The orchard, the meadow, the deep-tangled wildwood, and every loved spot which your infancy knew" are pictured in this drama of the heart with a realism that is surprising as it is entertaining.

"The Old Oaken Bucket" is a sincere and earnest attempt to catch the theme that inspired the writing of the best loved song in America, and reproduce it in nature's own setting. Those who are fortunate in seeing this delightful visualization of the days of childhood, and the many happy incidents associated with it will be amazed at the manner in which the producers have attained the ideals in production. Supported by an able staff, Joseph Smiley famous in the old Vitaphone days, plays the leading role of the man who harks back in memory and to reality, to his younger days. You'll feel like a different person after seeing "The Old Oaken Bucket."

THE ELTINGE

"Ten Nights in a Barroom" is not as the title might suggest, entirely an indoor picture. It was made in the Adirondacks which form a natural background of beauty and interest. In addition to the human interest side of the story, thrills and excitement are in evidence. The fight on the log jam is said to be very realistic. The picture is showing at the Eltinge for three days beginning Tuesday.

Tips On Business

Spring pick-up continues in auto industry. Prices of 20 leading cars have dropped an average of 30 per cent from the peaks of two years ago. Ford schedule calls for an output of about 210,000 cars in April and May.

EATING BREAD

Consumption of wheat bread is rapidly climbing back to normal, after the sharp slump that started last October. This is a sure sign of better business ahead, according to leading paper manufacturers who consider bread sales even a better barometer of general business than steel or coal output.

MORE BUILDING

Indications are that building operations will continue expanding, with prospects of a lively summer. Lumber trade reports heavy sales of soft woods, with orders piling up at the mills. Hardwood market is slower. Final figures show March output of structural steel was 77 per cent of shop capacity, against 43 in January.

MONEY MOVES

Nation's bank clearings are running a sixth larger than a year ago. Outlook is for still easier money rates this summer, there being nothing in sight to check the downward trend until crops move next fall.

COTTON ACTIVE

Cotton experts are running more than twice as big as a year ago, and nearly as big as two years ago, but the export movement is jagged and ratios change fortnightly. Takings by northern and southern spinners, from August 1 to date, total about 43 bales for each 25 bales in corresponding period a year ago. World's visible supply of American cotton around 2,500,000 bales, against 4,430,000 bales a year ago.

OIL COUNTRY

Crude production continues shipping 30,000 barrels a week. Average production of American wells now about 1,400,000 barrels a day. Mexican oil exports are running 550,000 barrels a day, against 600,000 a month ago.

Kindly let us send you a word regarding our presentation of "Ten Nights in a Bar-room."

It was our privilege to have the premier showing in Pennsylvania at our Arcadia Theatre. It is of interest to you to know that it shattered all records as a box office attraction. The crowds were so big that many were turned away both at Matinee and Evening performances; and it is the first time in the history of motion pictures in this city that a production has been held over for more than a week's showing.

CARNIVAL OF BOXING TO BE HELD APR. 28

Double-Headliner Bill Is Planned For Auditorium For Benefit Baseball Club

A double-headliner boxing carnival will be held in the Bismarck Auditorium Friday night, April 28, by the Bismarck Athletic Association. It was announced today.

Benny Haskell, of Minneapolis, one of the top-notch welters of the twin cities, will meet "Bat" Krause and Franklin Roberts will box Silver Perry, the Montana champion.

Articles were signed for the Krause-Haskell bout before the McDonald-Krause bout at Mandan. Krause declares he was injured in the McDonald bout Friday night he kept to give him an opportunity to stage a real come-back. Haskell is said to be a right-handed fighter, and is more of Krause's build. The local boy is out to win this match.

A remarkable exhibition of boxing is expected when Silver Perry, of Montana, and Franklin Roberts meet. Perry is the best of his class in Montana. He boxed here sometime ago but was not forced to extend himself. Roberts recently bested Leo Stokes in Fargo. Perry has won his two last fights with knock-outs.

Kid Fogarty and others will be on the preliminary cards.

The proceeds of the boxing carnival will go to the Bismarck baseball team.

WRESTLERS ARE READY TO GO

Ellsworth Finlayson, local wrestler, will go against one of the best men in the Northwest in the mat game at the Rialto theater tomorrow night, April 28, when he meets Karhusarri. The match is called for 9 o'clock.

Both men are in excellent trim for the bout. Karhusarri reached Bismarck today, and will work out here this afternoon and tomorrow for the match.

LEROY TO MEET BOBBY WARD

Fargo, April 24.—Russie Leroy will meet real opposition when he tackles Bobby Ward, the latest Twin City opposition roped in for him by Jack Harley. According to present plans announced by Harley, Leroy will meet Ward in a bout to be staged here the early part of May. Ward is without a doubt the class of the Northwest. He has fought them all, Pinky Mitchell, Clome Tait and other top-notchers. He boxed Bobby Harper, the Pacific coast lightweight champion to a draw and beat Charley White for nine rounds but walked into one of the veterans left hooks and took the count in the tenth.

Victory for Leroy will mean matches with the leaders of the division and fighting for real money soon, it is declared by followers of the ring game.

OLESON FAMILY IS COOPERATIVE SAYS CANDIDATE

Husband and Daughter Behind Wife and Mother in U. S. Senatorial Contest

"JUST BORN A DEMOCRAT"

Indorsement Came Unsolicited, Being Eleventh Hour Suggestion on Convention Floor

loquet, Minn., April 24.—Economic secrets borrowed from the housing wife's budget system can be taken to Congress by women with telling effect, in the opinion of Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet, indorsed by the Minnesota Democratic state convention for the United States senatorial nomination.

Then there is woman's intimate knowledge of home conditions that would help materially in law making, she believes, and she points to the axiom that home is the foundation of the nation for support of her contention.

"My one big desire in this campaign," she said, "is to so conduct myself that no woman need be ashamed that I am of her sex, and if nothing else is accomplished, I want the campaign to be a political trail blazer for woman-kind in Minnesota."

It is the first time in the history of the state, that a woman has been accorded the indorsement of a major political party for the United States senatorship, and Mrs. Oleson realizes she is making precedent.

Mrs. Oleson's husband is superintendent of schools in this city of 8,000 population, a position he has held for eight years. They have a daughter, Mary, 14 years old.

"We are a cooperative family in a sense," Mrs. Oleson said. "My husband will be actively aiding me when the summer vacation season comes 'round. And Mary—why, when she heard I had been indorsed for the senate, she exclaimed: 'Mother, I can write just a dandy campaign speech for you.'"

It has been that way, Mrs. Oleson explained, ever since she took her first step toward politics four years ago, only she did not know the step was in that direction then.

Interested in Young Girls
"I saw, as did my husband, that conditions surrounding young girls were not always the best, and it was only natural that I should interest myself in their case from the viewpoint of a mother."

"This interest took me into women's clubs and their work. I became president of the women's clubs of the Eighth Minnesota district and then chosen vice president of the state organization."

During the war, Mrs. Oleson made many patriotic talks, and became much in demand over the state and in adjoining states. Then with the war ended, she went into chautauqua work, and last summer toured 10,000 miles in an automobile with her family in this lecture work.

Mrs. Oleson is 36 years old. She was born in Le Sueur county, Minnesota, and her father was P. D. Dickie, and both her maternal and paternal grand parents came to Minnesota as pioneers in 1858. Both her grandfathers fought in the Civil War.

Her father was a Prohibitionist, but she declares she was "just born a Democrat," and her faith in that party became strengthened through her early admiration for William Jennings Bryan. She lived on a farm, and a neighbor told her all about Bryan one day as she rode to town with him as a load of wheat.

She was married when she was 19 miles to Waterville, Minn., to gain her high school education. When she reads, she prefers it to be Plato and Walt Whitman.

"I do my own housework," Mrs. Oleson said. "I think a woman can attend to her home duties and also participate in club activities or politics, measuring the extent of her participation by the time it can legitimately claim from her household duties."

Mrs. Oleson pointed out that the indorsement for senator came unsolicited, and was the result of an eleventh hour suggestion on the convention floor.

"As the selection of the Democratic party, naturally I would first be for all Democrats—men as well as women, but I am partially interested in legislation affecting working women, who seem to have been neglected to a great extent."

NEW STREET CAR WILL NOT TAKE AS MUCH POWER

North Dakota's new street car will save a large amount of power during the year. The former car, carrying its 20,000 pounds of excess weight, required close to 300 amperes to run. It probably took more, as the measure at the local power plant could record only to three hundred.

The new car has been climbing the hill with a load in the first few days by an expenditure of from 100 to 110 amperes.

TO PROMOTE ENTERTAINMENTS

Grand Forks, N. D., April 24.—Nearly a dozen clubs and business organizations of the city have organized for promoting and indorsing worthwhile entertainments here. Among the organizations are the Commercial club, Kiwanis club, Rotary club, Lions club, Merchants association, Civic league, Business and Professional Women's club and others. The first activity of the new organization will be too boost for the May music festival to be held here May 1, 2 and 3.

ANOTHER KARNAVAL PLANNED

Grand Forks, N. D., April 24.—Plans are being made for the repetition of the Kiwanis Community Carnival which was such a success last year. T. B. Elton, president of the club has announced that the event will be staged this year on May 25, 26 and 27.

RECREATIONAL PLAYGROUNDS FOR MASONS

Members From All Parts of The Country Will Be Made Welcome at Brainerd

Minneapolis, Minn., April 24.—Members of the Masonry of the nation will find a summer recreational playgrounds near Brainerd, Minn., available to them within the next few months. Established by Minnesota Masons, brother members from all parts of the country will be welcome.

Seeking a location where members of the order may spend the hot months away from their daily vocations, several hundred Minnesota Masons banded together, formed a holding company and contracted for approximately 270 acres on the lake sites near Brainerd, Minn., according to Dr. T. T. Warham, president of the holding company.

Organization was effected under a Minnesota law, with no stock being sold, each member contracting for one-third acre lots, which ranged in price from $225 to $675. As it is improbable the 800 holders of the property will spend the entire summer at the camp, there will be ample room and accommodations for all visiting Masons throughout the country, Dr. Warham declared.

The summer resort, located ten miles north of Brainerd, on the scenic highway, is bounded on the west by Gull lake and on the east by Round lake, the physician said. Numerous trees and shrubbery give it the appearance of an ideal summer playground. Dr. Warham declared. Parties are on their way to make the preliminary arrangements, such as camping grounds, fishing and boating facilities and other summer sports. A tent city has been marked, and additional ground for a golf course has been optioned for use if the members desire.

PRESIDENT OF A.D.C. OF WORLD TO VISIT N. D.

He Was Scheduled To Visit N. D. Last Winter, But Illness Prevented

Charles Henry Mackintosh, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world will spend eight days in North Dakota according to an announcement of his itinerary through the state. Mr. Mackintosh, at the time of his election promised the members of the organization, that he would, if possible, visit every club in the country affiliated with the organization. He was scheduled to visit North Dakota last winter but illness prevented him making the trip and another officer of the club was sent out to fill the dates Mr. Mackintosh had arranged.

By the arrangement of the present itinerary, Mr. Mackintosh will reach North Dakota on the morning of May 12 and will speak to the Fargo club at noon on that day. He will leave the state following his appearance at Beech on May 20. He is making his final speaking tour, preliminary to the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world, to be held at Milwaukee, June 11th to 15th.

Mr. Mackintosh's speaking dates in the state are:
Fargo—May 12—noon.
Grand Forks—May 12—evening.
Valley City—May 15.
Minot—May 16.
Ryder—May 17.
Bismarck—May 18.
Mandan—May 19—noon.
Dickinson—May 19—evening.
Beach—May 20.

State Demonstration Farms To Prove Or Disprove Irrigation Theories Suggested

Suggestion that the state establish several demonstration farms for the purpose of proving or disproving the feasibility of irrigation was suggested by W. H. Robinson, state engineer, in an address before the irrigation meeting here. Mr. Robinson said in part: "The amount of land that can be successfully irrigated is limited by the supply of water available, as well as by the topography of the country. We have no way of determining at this time just what per cent of our lands may be irrigated but we can make a pretty close estimate as to the supply of water available. It is probable that it will require, roughly, the run-off from about 50 acres to irrigate one acre. Therefore, so far as the amount of water available which falls upon the western part of North Dakota is concerned, we would probably have enough to irrigate about two per cent of the area or in round numbers, half a million acres if all of the run-off could be utilized."

"Besides the run-off of the state itself, we have several streams that flow through portions of it that could be used to swell this amount. Among these is the Missouri river, the flow of which has been estimated to be sufficient to irrigate 1,000,000 acres at low water. Besides this we have the lower Yellowstone River, which can be used to irrigate possibly 20,000 acres in McKenzies county, the Mouse river, which rises in Canada, and the Little Missouri which rises in South Dakota. Taken altogether it is probable that at best we could not hope to irrigate more than a million acres in western North Dakota. This would, in round numbers, mean approximately 4 1/2 per cent of its area from streams. In addition, there might be some irrigation from wells, but at this time the possibilities of irrigation from this source is merely conjecture."

"The basis of 4 1/2 per cent would give us 12 acres per quarter section. This is not a very large tract of land when considered in this way but when it is considered from the standpoint that this number of acres under irrigation could be used to produce heavy yields of fodder, garden truck, etc., such a proportion if properly handled would provide winter fodder for more stock in most cases than could be ranged on the quarter section during the summer months besides furnishing other incomes from potatoes, garden truck and possibly sugar beets."

"At any rate, it appears that there is sufficient land, generally in small tracts, along our rivers to make it amply worth while for the state to thoroughly investigate all the possibilities. Methods to be Considered
"The main methods of irrigation to be considered are leading water from the upper parts of streams or reservoirs to lower lying lands by gravity, pumping from streams or wells, and by impounding the spring run-off temporarily, directly on the land. Some lands are situated so that they may be conveniently irrigated during the spring run-off by diverting the flow of coulees or small streams over the lands with considerable benefit. This is especially true in large coulees that are dry except during the early spring. This method of direct impounding for irrigation has been proposed on the Mouse River by building a series of dams for holding spring foods back sufficiently long to thoroughly soak the low lying adjoining valley. In addition to giving the land a thorough soaking by the impounded water, a considerable portion of this water might be used to irrigate lands lying below by constructing ditches to lead the overflow along the outer rim of the lower valley and allowing it to spread over as much land as possible. It seems that this method of irrigation should be very successful, especially for the growing of wild hay, which is very abundant along the Mouse River when there is sufficient moisture."

"The office of the State Engineer was created primarily to provide engineering for irrigation projects. It seems to me, however, that a very essential element was overlooked in the original plan. It seems that provisions should have been made for furnishing practical advice and supervision over the actual operation of irrigation after a project is completed. Farmers who have had no previous experience in irrigation naturally are apt to make mistakes and get discouraged before a fair trial has been given."

jects, one naturally has to deal with a proposition that is almost entirely visionary at this time. Fortunately, however, history has shown us that the vision of today very often becomes the reality of tomorrow.

Power From Lignite

Practically the only relation between these two important matters is the possibility of the use of lignite to furnish power for pumping. Since the portion of the state which is most interested in irrigation is underlain with beds of lignite coal at varying depths, the feasibility of making use of this source of supply for power ought to be obvious.

"The only project of any consequence in the state that is now making use of lignite for fuel is the government plant located near Williston, which also furnishes the City of Williston with electricity. It therefore appears that central power plants might be located at convenient places and high tension electric currents generated and transmitted to distant locations for direct pumping."

"Looking a little further into the future, it may be possible to generate this current as a by-product of bricketing. Since tests have shown that each ton of lignite coal contains about 10,000 cubic feet of gas that must be driven off before a successful briquet can be made, it is probable that part of this gas fill be utilized in the manufacture of the briquet itself and it does seem that there will be a large quantity of waste unless some means is used to convert it into other forms of energy. This is, of course, a matter that will have to await the development of the bricketing process and is mentioned here only as a possibility of the future."

"The coal mine has also been suggested as a source of supply for water. There have been several so-called deep mines in the state where enormous quantities of water were encountered. If in pumping this water from the mine it could be turned into agricultural lands at certain periods it is possible that a considerable acreage could be irrigated in this manner."

Project Suggested.

"While dealing with matters more or less visionary, it might be proper to mention an irrigation project that has been suggested. It is the proposition of diverting a portion of the Missouri River near the location of old Fort Stevenson by means of a dam or tunnel to the Mouse River valley. To the writer this project appears to be one of worthy of serious consideration. The matter of a 20 or 25-mile tunnel, as the case may be, would in all probability be more feasible than attempting to raise the present level of the Missouri River by means of a dam and carrying water by open ditches. If the Federal Government can be interested in a project of this kind and it is finally found feasible, it is believed that a very large acreage of land can be irrigated from this source."

"Reviewing the matter, it seems that there are at least five outstanding features that should be given consideration in connection with the matter of irrigation."

"First, a permanent organization should be established to promote irrigation in the state."

"Second, the State Engineer should be furnished with sufficient funds to properly handle the ordinary engineering problems."

"Third, Federal Aid should be solicited on the large engineering projects."

"Fourth, Federal Aid should be solicited on all projects that are eligible to aid under the McNary Bill or any other Act of Congress which authorizes such aid."

"Fifth, that one or more irrigation demonstration and experimental farms should be established at the earliest date possible."

A document dated A. D. 288, dealing with government extravagance, is still in existence.

CHILD WELFARE NEEDS OF STATE BEING STUDIED

Children's Bureau of The U. S. Department of Labor Cooperating With N. D. Commission

The Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor is cooperating with the North Dakota Children's Code Commission in studying the child welfare needs of the state. It is particularly investigating the subjects of dependency, juvenile delinquency, and the relation between school attendance and child labor.

The studies made by the Children's Bureau in various places throughout the country are usually designed to gather information which will be of general interest and value. In North Dakota, for example, the Bureau is trying to discover how the plan of juvenile commissioners is working out, and what its effects of value to other states having large rural areas. The adaptation of juvenile courts and probation methods to rural conditions has not been widely studied up to this time, and constitutes a difficult problem.

The Children's Bureau was established by Congress about ten years ago, and was directed, in the act creating it, to "investigate and report upon all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life among all classes of people, and especially infant mortality, the birth rate, orphanage, juvenile courts, detention, dangerous occupations, accidents and diseases of children, employment (and) legislation affecting children in the several states and territories." The Bureau's province, in other words, is to place at the disposal of all those concerned with the problems of child-care and protection the facts revealed through its studies, and particularly methods which have been proved effective through practical experience. Service of this sort from the bureau is now being utilized by the North Dakota Children's Code Commission.

It is stated that the band will give concerts at the state fair this year.

U. S. AUTOS IN BIG DEMAND

Mexico City, April 24.—Seven countries consumed 59 per cent of the automobile exports of the United States last year, Mexico being the foremost purchaser, according to American Chamber of Commerce statistics. Mexico bought 8,232 cars during 1921; Canada 6,386; Australia 3,740; Japan 2,062; Hawaii 1,984 and Cuba 1,976.

FALL IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Vang, N. D., April 24.—Burial was made here of the body of Mrs. O. L. Brevig, pioneer of Vang, who settled in Cavalier county in 1881, and who died as the result of injuries received when she stepped into an open elevator shaft and fell two stories. Mrs. Brevig, who moved to Venn, Sask., in 1918, was on her way to Glybo to visit her daughter and stopped over night at a hotel in Moose Jaw. She evidently had stepped into the elevator shaft thinking the cage in position, whereas it is said to have been on another floor. Three sons and a daughter survive.

April 28 Is Date Given For Party

The Fourth Division of St. Mary's Sewing Circle will give a dance and card party in the gymnasium and auditorium of St. Mary's school, on Friday evening, April 28.

The committee in charge are doing everything possible to make the affair an enjoyable one. The Little Wonder Orchestra will furnish music for the dancing.

Refreshments will be included with the price of the ticket. Everyone is invited to attend.

Recital by Adult Pupils a Success

A good sized and appreciative audience listened attentively to a highly classical and well rendered program, given at the high school auditorium on Saturday evening by the adult pupils of Mrs. Emma G. Wheeler of Mandan. This is the first of a series to be given this spring.

Each number showed careful and thoughtful training in technique and artistic touch while tone quality was also a dominant feature.

Much commendation is given Mrs. Wheeler for the efficient way in which she develops the musical ability and teaches pupils to interpret for themselves.

County Fair Is Drawing Interest

Much interest is being shown in the county fair to be staged at the club rooms by the Business and Professional Women's club tomorrow evening. Mandan has sent word that a large delegation will arrive on the evening's train and it is requested that all Bismarck members be at the club room on time to receive them.

New attractions are being added each day by the committee in charge and a general good time is in store for all. The country fiddler has agreed to take charge of the bowery dance and pink lemonade, peanuts and balloons are being ordered in quantities. Pennies will admit the Bismarck members, including one of the guests, to all the attractions.

Cantata Draws Much Interest

A large crowd of Bismarck and out of town people attended the cantata, "Victory," given by the Presbyterian church choir of Mandan at the Presbyterian church here last evening. The chorus work of the cantata displayed splendid harmony and solos were well sung. Mrs. Fitzsimmons directed the choir and much credit is due her for the splendid rendition.

Following are the numbers composing the cantata: "From Gethsemane to Calvary," "Not What I Will," "Out of the Night of Darkness," "O Morn of Joy," "Angels Rolled the Stone Away," "Life Eternal," "The Song of Victory," "There's No Night in Heaven," "In the Splendor of His Glory," "His Love Divine," "Christ Hath Risen."

MOTOR FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peterson arrived home Saturday afternoon from Hollywood, California, where they spent the winter. They drove home in a touring car, traveling 3-100 miles on the trip. Going through Arizona they were forced to detour at Kingman because of a heavy snowfall. They detoured to El Paso, Texas, and came up through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. On their trip they lost but four half-days travel, three because of rain and a half day waiting for the ferry at Yankton, S. D. Mr. Peterson brought word that Henry Tatley will return to the city in about a month.

BISMARCK BOY CHOSEN

R. Leslie Harrison, a graduate of the Bismarck high school, now attending Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, has been elected president of the Purdue Union for the coming year. This is one of the biggest honors given to the students of Purdue. Mr. Harrison is a track man and recently broke the University record in the half mile as well as holding the mile record. He is the cross country captain of this year. He is a member of the Triangle fraternity, Omicron, honorary civil society, and the Varsity P. C. club.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Patterson entertained at a unique four course Chinese dinner in their apartment in the McKenzie Hotel, in honor of Mrs. S. O. of Minot, who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hassell. Covers were arranged for fourteen. The McKenzie orchestra furnished music and dancing was enjoyed during the evening.

VISIT IN BISMARCK

Five Meetings Planned For Missionary Meet

The Bismarck Woman's Presbyterian Missionary society will hold their twelfth annual meeting at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 25 and 26. Interesting programs have been arranged for each of the five meetings.

The first meeting will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. Adelaide Woodward of India, will give an address at this meeting. The Light Bearers will take part in an exercise. Mrs. W. E. Fitzsimmons of Mandan, will sing at the meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Jennie Moore, missionary to the mountaineers will give the address of the evening. Miss Beesie Williams will sing.

Report of secretaries and election of officers is the important business to be taken up at the meeting on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Conference hour will follow. Mrs. Mattison of Bismarck will give an address on the "Hope Indians" at the afternoon meeting, and Mrs. H. L. Stegner of the city, will sing.

The devotional service Wednesday evening will be led by Rev. H. H. Owen of Mandan. Music will be given by the church choir of the Young People. Dr. Adelaide Woodward will speak and Mrs. Obert Olson will give a reading, "Healing the Leper."

Tuesday evening, Wednesday noon and Wednesday evening, meals will be served in the church parlors for the members of the Woman's Missionary society and the delegates.

May Shorten Schedule

With improvements on the state street car track to be made soon it is probable that the schedule will be shortened from 10:30 A. M. to 12 noon and from 2:30 to 5 P. M., the car making the round-trip on a 20-minute schedule. The new street car, it is said, uses about 25 per cent less power than the heavier car formerly used. Repairs, however, must be made on the track beyond the pavement as the rails spread easily under a one-truck car. Prof. Chandler, of the state university, is coming here in a few days to suggest further improvements by which the amount of power used may be lessened.

Dance every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 at The Coliseum. 10 Cents per dance.

Baptist Church Meetings Closed

The evangelistic meetings which have been in progress at the Baptist church closed last night. Five persons united with the church, four of whom were baptized. No effort was made to make the meetings sensational, yet there was a deep interest shown especially yesterday. The preaching was done by Rev. B. Wiesle, of Grand Forks, Director of Religious Education for the Baptist churches of North Dakota. Rev. Wiesle emphasized the need of a religion that changes the life rather than makes appearances. His sermons were constructive and well received by appreciative audiences each evening.

At a full meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union last night, Rev. Wiesle spoke of the meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union of America which meets in St. Paul the last of June, and of the Assembly meeting at Jamestown July 2-14. An effort will be made to secure large delegations from all the churches of the state to these conventions. The commercial organization of Minot, Mr. Wiesle said, has agreed to furnish oil and gas to persons taking car loads of delegates to St. Paul on condition that the cars carry streamers advertising Minot. He wondered whether such a plan would not meet with favor with some of the organizations of Bismarck.

Mr. Wiesle left for Washburn this morning on a three weeks' itinerary among the Unions of the churches in the special interest of the coming conventions. He will meet the young people of both the German and English speaking churches. He spoke last night to a large audience at the German Baptist church, and at the Indian school in the afternoon.

The church and congregation feel that the coming of Rev. Wiesle has been a decided spiritual uplift in general and wish him success and a pleasant return in the future.

The next membership day will be on Mother's Day. Those who were not ready at this season will be ready then. Many will want to do something which will honor their mothers on Mother's Day and nothing can better show appreciation of what mother has been to them than to take a definite stand for religion and the church.

PRESSING.

A NEW WEIGHING MACHINE
A weighing machine, so delicately adjusted that it immediately detects the withdrawal of a single steel rivet from a 25,000-ton steamship!
This is the latest achievement by Uncle Sam's Bureau of Standards. It is described in scientific circles as "the most precise work of its kind in many years."
Man is getting the art of measurement down finely when, in comparing a couple of one-pound weights, he can detect a difference of a millionth.
Yet in that most important form of measurement—determining relative values of human energy expended on different things—we are making very little progress.
Discover how to measure human energy and the relative values of what it produces, and you have the key to the just distribution of wealth.

Burglars have started their spring cleaning early.
INCOMES
Speaking of overhead and excess baggage: The Census Bureau adds up and reports that the value of all American farm products raised in 1919 was $21,425,623,614.
The income of all Americans combined in the same year was $65,900,000,000, or over three times the farmers' income.
The farmer, for actually producing everything that feeds and clothes us, got only a third of the pie!
Out of each $3 farmer gets $1, city man, $2.

Next to home, the worst place to spend the summer is away.
CENSUS OF PIGS
Mail carriers early in May will take a census of pigs to find out how many there are in America. The two-legged kind will not be included.
The postman will find about 57,000,000 head of swine on the farms.
Along with these are some 36,000,000 sheep, 19,000,000 horses, 5,400,000 mules, 24,000,000 milk cows and 41,000,000 other cattle.
Civilization advances, but animals still are doing an infinite service for us. Treat them kindly, remembering that in relation to animal life we are parasites.

Put confidence in everybody and you soon won't have any.
PETRIFIED TREES
Petrified trunk of a fern tree, 20 feet long, is dug out of a coal mine in Alberta, Canada.
The find recalls that sub-tropical climate once existed north of the United States.
Climate does change, though this particular instance took millions of years, according to scientists.

We live just long enough to get a glimpse of our infinitesimal unimportance in eternity. Earth will cover up all traces of everything we build.
Just as many millions of years lie ahead, as in the past. No more, no less. Time has no beginning, no end. It is a delusion of man's brain.
The main kick against work seems to be that it takes up so much time.

BOTH CLAIM TITLE
New York and London carry on a newspaper argument, each claiming it is the world's largest city.
Greater London, in a radius of 19 miles from Charing Cross, has a population of 7,476,168. This is 344,500 less than live within 19 miles of City Hall, New York.
Some people never get it through their heads that the size of a town has nothing to do with its value and real importance. The log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born is more valuable to civilization than the whole structure of Greater New York.

Our radio kick is, the farmers will know how things are selling in town.
MOVIES IN GERMANY
German moving picture industry during the last year has increased its capitalization from 98,751,000 marks to 319,718,000 marks.
This looks as if Germany is getting ready to flood the world with films.
A check-up, though, will show that the increase has not kept pace with currency depreciation, and that the working capital really has shrunk, measured in American dollars. Price hoax.

GAMBLING
More than 1,000,000 shares of stock are sold in two hours on the New York stock exchange.
The wave of speculation is a gambling bet that the country is headed toward better business conditions.
It is a manifestation of the return of public courage, absolutely necessary for business revival.
In the last analysis, Woodrow Wilson was right when he said that the hard times of 1914 were largely psychological.
Fear is the regulator of general business. For that matter, of nearly everything else.

HEALTH
The death rate is much higher among the wealthy than the poor, says an officer of the Prudential Insurance Company.
He blames overweight, improper digestion, rich food and excessive smoking.
Nature tends to balance things up. Too much luxury and soft living, the shadows of wealth, destroy health. Luxury, desired by all, is like ripe fruit—close to decay.
As in all things, strive for a happy medium.

EDITORIAL REVIEW
Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

TALK ACROSS THE PACIFIC
It may be somewhat of a surprise to some unobservant persons to know that Uncle Sam has a wireless telephone service that, with the aid of super high-power sending stations, makes it possible for his workers to talk from Cavite, in the Philippines to San Francisco on an uninterrupted circuit. Secretary Denby, however, casually announces that this long-distance radio service, on which more than 2,000 words daily are flashed across the Pacific, has been in operation for a year.
This is not alone an indication of the advance that has been made in wireless telephony. It also serves to show that you never can tell what is going on around you. Science makes rapid strides these days, and it is pleasant to know that, in some respects at least, our government is keeping abreast of the times.—Buffalo News.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS FROM GRUDGING LADLES
While the current theatrical season has been a bad one pretty much all over the country and retrenchment seems to be the order of the day, nevertheless there is occasion for some concern in the report emanating from Chicago about a proposed merger of theatrical interests involving $100,000,000, in which Erlanger and the Shuberts are said to be negotiating with other prominent producers and theater owners to join.
The object, it is set forth, would be to prevent the needless building of new theaters for the "legitimate," the overlapping of existing ones, and exhibitions in a city of more than one show of the same type. It even goes so far as to limit to one the number of first-class houses in smaller cities.
This would be a body blow at dramatic art. The chances of bookings for the independent producers would be of the slightest. The trouble with our commercial theater is that it is so utterly and damnably commercial. It is anything but a theater of ideas. What has served, will serve—that is the rule of an institution living largely by formula. Whatsoever is new, quickening and vital has to fight its way slowly into recognition now. Under such a syndicate as that said to be contemplated the effort would be well nigh hopeless.—Newark News.

TWO YOUNG MEN
The crown prince of Japan and the prince of Wales are young men destined for great parts in world affairs. They are now qualifying for their work.
Last year the former took his first look around in the Occidental world. He was everywhere most cordially received, and returned home informed and refreshed by what he had seen and heard. His vision, necessarily, was considerably enlarged.
The latter is now taking his first look around in the Oriental world. In a few days he will land in Japan and be the guest of the country for a month. The arrangements for his entertainment are elaborate, and insure him both a delightful and profitable visit. That he will return home informed and refreshed by his travels is certain.
The young Japanese is likely to have his opportunity first, and at no distant time. The health of the emperor of Japan is precarious. When he goes, his son will step into his shoes.
The young Englishman's opportunity will come later. King George is in his prime, and the condition of world matters and the British empire's relation to developing events should serve to prolong his life. But when the son's opportunity comes the fruits of his travels should show in his improvement of it.
The war has produced a new world, which in many things must be ordered in new ways. Young men for action; and here are two young men who when they get into action and into their stride will be prominent and important in the world picture.—Washington Star.

"He had done. He showed me the letter. Well, you know, old man, every fox knows what foxes like; and I smelt a dear brother solicitor's smell in that letter. Asking him to make a home possible for her to return to so they might resume their life together."
"I handed it back. I said, 'H'm again. I said, 'H'm you remember, old man, there was that remark—that remark that perhaps the girl might have a claim on you. Remember that, don't you?'"
"By jove, I thought for a minute he was going to flare up and let me have it. But he laughed as if I was a fool and said, 'Oh, good Lord, man, that's utterly ridiculous. Man alive with all my faults, by wife knows me.'"
CHAPTER III.
On a day a month later—in May—Haggood said:
"Now I'll tell you, Old Sabre—by jove, it's frightful. He's crashed."
"Look here, it's in two parts, this sudden development. Two parts—morning and afternoon yesterday and bit today. And of all extraordinary places to happen at—Brighton."
"Yes, Brighton. I was down there for a Saturday to Monday with my Missus. Monday morning we were sunning on the pier, she and I."
"Well, all of a sudden she began, 'Oh, what a frightfully interesting face that man's got!'"
"I looked across. Old Sabre!"
"I went over to him. His face was like a shout on a sunny morning. Yes, he was pleased. I like to think how jolly pleased the old chap was."
"I got old Sabre on to a secluded bench and started in on him. What on earth was he doing down at Brighton and how were things?"
"He said 'Things? Things are happening with me, Haggood. Not to me—with me. I had to get away from them for a bit. I'm going back tomorrow. Effie was right—with her baby. She was glad I should go—glad for me, I mean. Top of her own misery, Haggood, she's miserable at what she says she's let me in for. She's always crying about it. She's torn between knowing my house is the only place where she can have her baby, between that and seeing what her coming into the place has caused. She spends her time trying to do any little thing she can to make me comfortable. It's pathetic, you know. Jumped at this sudden idea of mine of getting away for a couple of days. Fussed over me packing up and all that, you know. Look, just to show you how she wants about for anything to do for me—said my old straw hat was m-m too shabby for Brighton and would I get her some stuff, ovahe acid and let her clean it up for me. As a matter of fact she made such a shocking mess of the hat that I hardly liked to wear it. Couldn't hurt her feelings, though. Chuckled it into the sea when I got here and bought this one. Make a funny story for her when I get back about how it blew off. That's the sort of life we lead together, Haggood. Give you another example. Just when I had brought her the stuff for my hat. Met me with, 'Had I lost anything?' Said I was to guess. Guessed at last that it must be my cigaret case. It was. She found it lying out and took me to show where she'd put it for safety—in the back of the clock in my room. Said I was always to look there for any little valuables I might miss and wanted me to know how she liked to be careful of my things like that. Fussed over me, you see?"
"That's the sort of life we lead together, Haggood—together; but the life I'm caught up in, the things that are happening with me, that I'm right in the middle of, that I felt I had to get away from for a bit—astounding Haggood, astounding, amazing..."

"Haggood, if I kept forty women in different parts of London and made no secret of it, nothing would be said. People would know I was rather a shameless lot, my little ways would be an open secret, but nothing would be said. I should be received everywhere. But I'm thought to have brought on a woman into my house and I'm banned. I'm unspeakable."
"Do you see, Haggood, do you see?"
The conventions are all right, moral, sound, excellent, admirable, but to save their own face there's a blind side to them, a shut-eye side. Keep that side of them and you're all right. They'll let you alone. They'll pretend they don't see you. But come out and stand in front of them and they'll devour you. They'll smash and grind and devour you, Haggood. They're devouring me."
"That's where they've got me in their jaws, Haggood; and where they've got Effie in their jaws is just precisely again on a blind, shut-eye side. They're rightly based. They're absolutely just, you can't gainy them, but to save their face, again, they're indomitably blind and deaf to hideous cruelties in their application. They mean well. They cause the most frightful suffering, the most frightful tragedies, but they won't look at them, they won't think of them, they won't speak of them: they mean well."
"Old Sabre put his head in his hands. He might have been praying. "With that he went back to all that stuff I told you he told me when I was down with him last month. He said, his face all pink under his skin, he said, 'Haggood, I've got the secret. I've got the key to the riddle that's been puzzling me all my life. Light, more light. Here it is: God is—love. Not this, that, or the other that the intelligence revolts at, and puts aside, and goes away, and goes on hungering, hungering and unsatisfied; nothing like that; but just this: plain for a child, clear as daylight for grown intelligence: God is—love. Listen to this, Haggood. "He that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God and God in him; for God is love." Ecstasy, Haggood, ecstasy!"
II.
"When I saw him again was about three o'clock, and I walked right into the middle of the development that has pretty well let the roof down on him."
"He was in the lobby. No one else there. Only a man who'd just been speaking to him and who left him and went out as I came in."
"Sabre had two papers in his hands. He was staring at them and you'd ha' thought from his face he was staring at a ghost. They were divorce papers that have to be served personally. Divorce papers. His wife had instituted divorce proceedings against him. Naming the girl, Effie."
"Yes, you can whistle. He was knocked out. I got him up to his room. It was pretty awful. He sat on the bed with the papers in his hand, gibbering. Just gibbering. Was his wife mad? Was she crazy? He to be guilty of a thing like that? He capable of a beastly thing like that? A vile, hideous, sordid intrigue with a girl employed in his own house? Effie! His wife to believe that? An unspeakable, beastly thing like that? He tried to show me with his finger the words on the paper. His finger shaking all over the thing. "Haggood, Haggood, do you see this vile obscenity here? I guilty of that? My wife, Mabel, think me capable of that? Adulterer! Adulterer! My God, my God, adulterer! The word makes me sick. The very word is like poison in my mouth. And I am to swallow it. It is to be me, my name, my title, my brand, Adulterer! Adulterer!"

"I tell you, old man... I tell you."
"I managed to get him talking about the practical side of it. That is I managed to make him listen while I talked."
"Next morning—that's this morning, you understand—he was a little more normal, able to realize things a bit, I mean. In panic fever to be off and state at the Registrar's that he was going to defend the action, but normal enough for me to see it was all right for him to go straight on home immediately after and tell the girl what she had to do and all that. I told him, by the way, that it would pretty well have to come out now, ultimately who the child's father was: the girl would practically have to give that up in the end to clear him. You know, I told him that in the cab going along down. He ground his teeth over it. It was horrible to hear him. He said he'd kill the chap if he could ever discover him; ground his teeth and said he'd kill him, now—after this."
"Well, he got through his business about twelve—Then a thing happened. Can't think now what it meant. We were waiting for a cab near the Law Courts. A cab was just pulling in when a man came up and touched Sabre and said, 'Mr. Sabre.' Sabre said, 'Yes' and the chap said very civilly, 'Might I speak to you a minute, sir?'
"Suddenly someone shoved past me and there was old Sabre getting into the cab with this chap who had come up to him. I said, 'Hullo! Hullo, are you off?'
"He turned round on me a face gray as ashes, absolutely dead gray. I'd never seen such a color in a man's face. He said 'Yes, I'm off,' and sort of fell over his stick into the cab. The man, who was already in, righted him on to the seat and said, 'Paddington' to the driver who was at the door, shutting it. I said, through the window, 'Sabre! Old man, are you ill?'
"He put his head towards me and said in the most extraordinary voice, speaking between his clenched teeth as though he was keeping himself from yelling out, he said, 'If you love me, Haggood, get right away out of it from me and let me alone. This man happens to live at Tiddrigh. I know him. We're going down together.'"
"I said, 'Sabre—'
"He clenched his teeth so they were all bare with his lips contracting. He said, 'Let me alone. Let me alone. Let me alone.'"
"I tell you what I'm going to do. I'm going down there tomorrow. I'm frightened about him."

Father of Mrs. John Schauss Passed Away

Ole Peterson, age 87, father of Mrs. John Schauss, passed away at 6:30 p.m. Saturday morning at the home of his daughter.

Mr. Peterson had been bedfast since last June, being paralyzed since then by a stroke. Recently he was taken with pneumonia which caused his death early Saturday.

Deceased was born in Heigeland, Norway, Sept. 30, 1854, and came to the United States some 20 years ago to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. John Schauss.

He was well known in Mandan and in the district southwest of the city as a kindly old gentleman. His wife passed away many years ago in Norway and three children survive, one a son lives in Norway, Mrs. John Schauss and Mrs. Hans Mork who now lives in Seattle.

The funeral services will be held from the Schauss farm home eight miles southwest of Mandan at two o'clock Monday afternoon, Rev. C. J. Fylling officiating.

H. G. Taylor has gone to the Twin Cities on a business trip.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Bunting have returned from a short visit in Fargo.

Bert Johnson who has been visiting friends in Fargo, has returned to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Bussard and family left Saturday evening for Pennsylvania to spend several weeks visiting relatives.

Dr. B. S. Nickerson has returned from Minneapolis and Rochester, where he has been attending medical and surgical clinics for the past two weeks.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The fifth one of the Seven Valleys was called Playground Valley. When Nancy and Nick and the dove came to the top of the steep hill that led into it, the dove said, "I know how it is going to be here. You'll want to try every swing and sliding board in the place, so there's no use of me staying. I'll fly ahead and wait for you patiently on the other side."

"But we don't have to stop, even if we'd like to," said Nancy. "We can shut our eyes and go straight ahead."

"No," said the dove sadly. "You think you will but you won't. These things are all magic and will attract you against your will. It's like the live-and-ten-cent-store mountain and the Valley of Pappy-Dogs. Goodbye now. All the advice I can give you is to watch that you don't lose your Green Shoes and that you will try to come as soon as you can."

Away he flew, but the magic had already begun to work and Nick was so interested in the things he saw around him, he scarcely heard what his little white guide said.

If I were to tell you all the things that the Twins did in Playground Valley it would fill so much space that there wouldn't be room for another thing on this page. But I can tell you part of it.

To begin with, there were swings—ropes swings with beard seats, boat swings on chains, nice beach swings with roofs over the top, flat swings, big swings, little swings, high swings, low swings, swings that squeaked and swings that were quiet, double swings, single swings, red swings, blue swings, and all sorts of swings.

Then there were sliding boards. Some were steep, some were flat, some were high, some were low, and each one a kind of fun.

And there were bars to swing on (Nick liked them) and sandpiles to dig in (Nancy liked that), and seat-saws, the best ever. There were kites to fly and tops to spin, skates to skate on and wheels to ride.

"Oh, my!" said Nancy suddenly. "We've been an awful long time. We'd better hurry on, Nick. I hear the dove calling."

GETS WHISKEY OUTFIT
WILSON, N. D. April 24.—Sheriff C. C. Mackenroth, in a raid on the premises of Wesley Timmerick, 12 miles north of this city, secured or destroyed equipment comprising the largest illicit moonshine outfit ever taken in this part of the state, the plant consisting of a large and a small still with a combined daily capacity of 25 gallons. It had just been erected and 17 gallons of whiskey, believed to have been the first product of the outfit, was seized. Arrests included that of Lee Ellis, local tinner, alleged to have just connected up the plant. Both Ellis and Timmerick are held to appear before the July term of district court.

MARKETS

BETTER TONE IN CATTLE TRADE.
South St. Paul, Minn., April 24.—Weekly market review. Although the general supply of cattle at seven large markets showed a moderate increase, the end of the Lenten season brought some improvement in the demand and a higher market for the dressed product which resulted in a better market tone and a gain of mostly 25c in prices of live cattle. A few small lots of good and choice beef steers sold in the last week's trade from $9.25 to $9.75 with load lots reaching $8 for the first time this year. Other load lots of a good beef grade sold at $7.60 to $7.75, with the bulk of the best steers at $6.50 to $7.25.

Butcher she-stock was scarce and under a relatively good demand brought 25c or more higher prices. Bulk sold at $4.50 to $4.50 at the close with the better offerings on up to $7.50, or slightly higher. Canners and cutters finished largely at $3 to $3.75, with only the worst old shells at $2.75 or less. Bologna huls brought mostly $3.50 to $4, a few choice heaves up to $4.25. The undertone to the trade in veal calves was strong with gains of 25c to 50c for the week. The market was uneven at the close with best lights selling from $6.25 to $7, a few up to $7.50, seconds from $2 to $5. Good and choice stockers and feeders were scarce and sold around 25c higher than at last week's close at $6.50 to $7.25. Common and medium grades moved at steady to strong prices. Bulk of stockers and feeders sold from $5.50 to $6.50, common kinds as low as $4.25.

One small lot choice baby heaves, $3.75; in early trade common to medium beef steers, $3 to $7.50. Bulk $6.50 to $7.25. Few butcher cows and heifers, $6.50 to $7.50. Bulk $4.50 to $6.50. Stockers and feeders steady.

Receipts of hogs last week at 25,500 were about 3,000 short of the previous week and with an increase in shipping demand, show a net gain of about 25c for the week. Better grades sold at the close Saturday, mostly from $10 to $10.50, top $10.35, heavy packing sows $8.75 to $9.50, goods pigs $11.

Extremely light receipts of sheep and lambs are closing strong to 25c higher. Best woolled offerings last week $14 to $14.50. Best 100 to around 140-pound woolled ewes $9.50, 150 to around 190-pound woolled ewes from $7 to $8, culs $4 to $5 monthly and canners as low as $2.

MAY DELIVERY STRONG
Chicago, April 24.—With the beginning of May deliveries only a week off the wheat market showed a tendency early today to rise in price for May but to decline for later months. Opening prices which varied from unchanged to 1-2 cents higher were followed by moderate fluctuations.

Subsequently May as well as July and September underwent a decided drop in value, lack of any immediate aggressive demand being apparent.

Freshman Wit Gets Innings In A. C. Paper

Fargo, N. D. April 21.—Promulgating the motto that "every goose has his day—this is ours" the Fresh Gossiping issue of the Weekly Spectrum, state agricultural college newspaper is off the press. The natty vehicle of freshman wit is of yellow paper, printed in green ink.

The front page gets away to a flying start by chronicling the expose of a booze ring of startling proportions among prominent students. It likewise details the death of the regular editor of the Spectrum, "who succumbed on Wednesday to a virulent attack of spring fever."

The editorial page endeavors to answer a wide variety of questions, including "How shall I go about getting into the movies?" The answer is: Go to a local theater, step up to the window marked "tickets" and lay down two bits. Go through door marked "entrance" and give pasteboard to person standing there. You are now in the movies.

The back page carries announcement of the cast of the alleged sophomore play—a four act tragedy entitled "Back to the Play."

RAILWAY SOUGHT
Rohn, N. D. April 24.—The Rohn Commercial club has appointed a committee to confer with a committee from Bottineau county on the question of the extension of the Soo railroad from Armadale to the Turtle mountains. Advocates of the extension say that a railway would be of incalculable benefit to the people of the Turtle mountain region.

WILD PARSLEY FIRST FLOWERS TO BLOOM HERE

Most Fondly Expected Spring-time Flower, However, Is The Pasque, In Bloom Now

CROCUS NOT RIGHT NAME

South Dakota's first flowers in April are small and inconspicuous, according to Dr. Melvin E. C. Moore, but it is followed by the flower around which the Indians have drawn their greatest wealth of fanciful traditions.

On the dry prairie two species of wild parsley are usually the first flowers to appear, says Dr. C. Moore. One is a yellow and the other a white or cream blossom. The plants are small and the flowers inconspicuous. At the latitude and altitude of Bismarck they first appear about April 15th.

The most fondly expected spring-time flower everywhere throughout its range is the pasque flower, which appears in the Bismarck altitude and attitude about April 15. The pasque flower has a number of popular names common in different localities. Among these popular names applied to this flower are pasque flower, gosling flower, primrose-smoke flower and wind flower. It has often erroneously been called 'crocus'. This designation is most inappropriate because it is already the name of a very different flower which is a native of Asia, and which is something like a lily or iris, and not like the pasque flower. The pasque flower's favorite situation is upon the north and northeast slopes of hills, especially gravelly hills.

Brave Little Flower
The several Indian tribes acquainted with the pasque flower are fond of it and have numerous folk sayings and stories about it. The Crocuses say of it that it is a very brave little flower which comes so early in the spring, when the weather is so cold that the flower must wear its fur robe. This is an allusion to the hairy appearance of the pasque flower.

In the people of the Dakota nation have many beautiful stories and sayings about the pasque flower. One of these is that the pasque flower is very friendly to the human race and speaks a message to human beings as follows:
I have been trying always to encourage you children of the human race in all generations by showing you and telling you that spring is here, and that the buffalo will increase, and now your parents will prepare to go upon the buffalo hunt so that you shall have plenty of food and good clothing.

Now I have come out first of all the flower people so that the Dakota children can pick me up and kiss me and play with me, and little boys will know that it is time to practice shooting with the arrow. Then, after I have first come, all the other flower people come out dressed in bright colors, showing themselves so charming and delightful and they make the earth look so beautiful and joyous and smell so fragrant. And then, too, all the seeds of the forest and of the prairie are putting off their old shaggy winter coats and are putting on their new and beautiful summer coats, and are growing fat and hearty and ready to become the necessary flesh food for human beings. The birds also are dropping their dull winter plumage and are putting on their bright spring plumage, and they begin to tune their voices to sing enchantingly for all the world.

And amid all these scenes of returning life and beauty I shall be standing among them, and my gray and about to die, or my life was largely spent before they came upon the scene.

Now, my grandchild, this is an example for you, to show that you, too, must become old and gray, and dying, shall pass on to the next happy land, where your ancestors have opened the road before you. You look for them and miss them here below, for they are gone; but you shall meet them there beyond when you yourself shall go there by and bye. Remember me to all that generation which follows after you, tell them that you saw me. I shall return again in early spring time, so I shall speak my message to generation after generation, even to all generations.

ANALYZING HARDING'S WRITING

By Albert J. Smith
The style of handwriting affected by President Warren G. Harding is the typical journalistic hand. It denotes the cool, deliberate scrawl of the trained executive with well-seasoned powers of deduction. It is a strong hand. This conclusion is obtained from the semi-angularity of the script, the consistent joining of the letters without a break and the decreasing or wedge shape of the writing.

Harding has a strong intellect. The powers of deep concentration are well developed and the faculty of diplomacy is well marked.

We discover these qualifications in the tendency to small writing, the continuity of the pen tracks and the wedge-shaped words "Warren" and "Harding."

The president has more or less of an impenetrable nature. It is difficult to get behind his motives. He is the deep thinker, the student of facts. He cannot be hurried; he must "be shown."

To the casual observer, Harding would convey the impression that he is slow to move and lacking in aggressiveness. This is due to his impenetrability, for he has the faculty of arriving at his conclusions without attracting undue attention.

There is nothing "Barnumistic" in his methods; there is no ostentation, or bombast.

We know that Harding has a keen mind. This is determined by the sharp tops of his writing which he unconsciously tries to incorporate most exposed to drouth and high winds.

"Aspens are found in close groves in pockets on north exposures of the hills. They are naturally gregarious and always prefer to grow in close clumps, and will not thrive otherwise. Anyone who plans to plant any of these trees or other plants should observe well their habits and habitat and be guided accordingly in his plans and planting."

PROTESTANT PREACHERS IN CHINA

There Are Now 25,000 of Them
—Y. M. C. A. Has Membership of 70,000

CONFERENCE IN SHANGHAI

Buffalo, N. Y., April 24.—Aims of the decennial National Christian Conference for China which will take place in Shanghai May 2-11, were announced here today by the Rev. Paul Hutchinson, editor of the China Christian Advocate, who is at this Buffalo home on furlough. Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, will be a speaker, and Dr. Ralph A. Ward of New York, assistant secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will represent that body.

Rev. Mr. Hutchinson said results for China comparable to those sought in the Washington conference on Pacific problems are expected from this gathering.

"Just as Washington tried to obtain for China a possibility of political progress, so Shanghai will seek some program by which the Christian church as a force for advance, may expand its work in the next ten years," he said.

When Robert Morrison died, after twenty-seven years of devoted effort for the conversion of the Chinese, he said that he doubted if after a century of work there would be 1,000 Christians in the country. All the protestant workers up to that time had succeeded in baptizing just ten Chinese in 1900. The Boxer uprising brought death to 10,000 Chinese Christians. In 1907, when Morrison's hundred years were up there were almost 10,000 Chinese Christian preachers and 178,000 communicant, protestant members. And since the overthrow of the Manchu the increase has been so rapid that the latest statistics (those for 1919) show that there are 344,974 communicants and 617,194 more under instruction, many of them baptized. The Y. M. C. A. reports a membership of 70,000, many of whom are not connected with the churches. Almost every established mission is embarrassed by the number of those who seek admission, for it is the general policy not to admit those who cannot be properly trained.

"There are now about 25,000 Chinese protestant preachers. The Chinese representation at the conference will be equal to that of the missionaries. Meanwhile the revolution has been developing. The revolution has at least been a success in stirring up the lives of the people.

"China is seething with all sorts of radical ideas, but the missionary body is being agitated by the fears of conservative workers that the Christian message is becoming too 'modernistic.'

"When the commission that will report at the conference on 'The Message of the Church to the China of Today' came together to discuss that subject, it found itself so far apart, that it was necessary to obtain a Chinese pastor as chairman, in the hope that under his leadership a report might be worked out upon which all might agree. The incident is significant in indicating the drift toward Chinese leadership, coming, in this case, where the missionaries have been able to agree among themselves.

"The commission that will report on 'The Development of Leadership for the Work of the Church' tackles a subject of great importance, but loaded with dynamite. Bishop L. H. Ross of the Protestant Episcopal Church has said that the most critical questions of the immediate future concern the relations between missionaries and Chinese leaders."

Some stars are so remote that it takes 40,000 years for their light to reach the earth.

WHAT IT COST TO PRODUCE GRAIN CROPS

Wheat Cost $2.66 a Bushel On The Average To Produce, Records Show

SOUTH DAKOTA FIGURES

Pierre S. D., April 24.—The average cost of producing a bushel of corn in Hand and Faulk counties in 1921 was $0.014. Wheat cost $2.66 a bushel on the average to produce while oats averaged $0.827 per bushel. These at least are the figures which have been compiled by the cost of production workers, operating under the state department, as they are reported in the April 15 bulletin of the department. They are the results of records kept on six farms in the two counties the bulletin explains and are merely preliminary figures which should not be taken as representative of any other than Faulk and Hand counties and the territory immediately surrounding them.

Taking each crop separately, it is shown that the cost per acre of growing corn on these six farms varied from $10.53 to $28.47 per acre.

"Variations in cost per acre," the bulletin explains, "occurred chiefly in man and horse labor and in machinery costs. The cost of man labor per hour varied from $0.212 to $0.389 although labor of hired help and of members of the family was figured at $5 per month on farms where this was paid, and at $36.50 per month where no outside help was employed. Board and room of hired help and of a member of the family, plus a man's place was figured in each case at $22.50 per month.

Lower Cost For Diversified Farms
"The variation in labor cost per hour is largely due to a difference in distribution of work through the year. Usually a farm which has a number of enterprises has the work better distributed through the year than one which is devoted largely to one or two enterprises which cause heavy rush seasons at certain times. On the diversified farm each man usually puts in a larger number of hours per year. These farms, therefore have a lower cost per acre of labor.

"The cost of horse labor varied from $0.0585 per hour to $0.194. The reasons as mentioned in the case of man labor helped to cause this variation in cost of horse labor, but there was also considerable differences in cost of maintenance. Some of the farmers did more barn feeding than others, some had more expensive housing, and there was more depreciation in some groups of houses than in others. Depreciating cost on horses can probably be profitably offset in many cases by producing good draft colts. The price of horses has apparently passed its low point, and there is considerable indication of rising prices for good draft horses during the next six or eight years, but not for small light horses.

Cost of Machinery
"Machinery cost on these six farms varied from $0.738 to $2.09 per acre, the average being $1.56 per acre. Continuing the bulletin says:
"The cost of the wheat crop on these farms averaged $12.63 per acre, figuring 6 per cent on conservative valuation. Five of these farms produced wheat at costs ranging from $8.89 per acre to $16.29 per acre. Wheat was practically a failure in this section in 1921, and the farms included had an average yield of only 5.72 bushels per acre as compared to 9 bushels, the average for the state. Cost per acre would not have been greatly changed had the average production been produced in which case the cost would show approximately $1.403 per bushel instead of $2.66.

The oat production on these farms in 1921 cost $11.30 per acre on the average, including a 6 percent charge on value of land.

Small grains throughout this section were practically a failure in 1921. The acre cost is, therefore, a much more reliable guide than the cost per bushel, which varied for oats from $0.572 to $1.09."

Xillite, a new insulation material, is being produced in Venice.

WOMEN'S TRADE UNION LEAGUE FACING CRISIS

Standards of Industry, Won Through Long Years of Struggle, Also Menaced

CONVENTION JUNE 5-10

Waukegan, Ill., April 24.—The National Women's Trade Union League, which will convene here June 5-10, is "facing a time of crisis," according to the convention call issued from the attack, the call continues, "but stand is the purpose of the trade union mis-represented and consequently under attack," the call continues, "but standards of industry, won through long years of struggle, are likewise menaced. This and the compelling problem of unemployment present a great challenge. Standards in industry mean a higher standard of life for the individual, the community and the nation.

Among women we are the group primarily responsible for fuller measure of life for the women workers of our country."

The league reports an affiliated membership of approximately 600,000, representing 108 occupations. Its objects are defined as "the organization of women into trade unions, which makes for self-government in the work shop," education in leadership and protective legislation. It seeks to obtain for girls and women "equal opportunity with boys and men in the basis of occupation, not sex, on the basis of occupation, not sex; to obtain the representation of women on industrial tribunals and public boards and commissions; to insure the protection of the younger girls in their efforts for better working conditions and a living wage; and to provide a common meeting ground for women of all groups who wish to see the principles of democracy applied to industry."

"Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago, is president. The motto of the League is 'The eight hour day; a living wage; to guard the home.'"

TO HEAD HIGH SCHOOL

Velva, N. D., April 24.—Supt. Emil Estenson of Petersburg has been elected superintendent of the state agricultural high school here.

Mr. Estenson has served as head of the Petersburg school for six years and has made a satisfactory record. It is said.

More than 100 applications were received for the position here.

16-YEAR-OLD GIRLS NOW ARE COUNTRY'S MOST FAMOUS "SIAMESE TWINS"

Daisy and Violet Hilton

By NEA Service
San Antonio, Texas, April 24.—Living here are the successors of Rosa and Josefa Blazek, world-famous Siamese twins who died recently at Chicago.

They are Violet and Daisy Hilton, 16, and attractive. Violet and Daisy are "Siamese Twins"—their bodies are joined together at the base of the spine—just like Rosa and Josefa, just like Eng and Chang, original Siamese Twins whom Barnum made famous in the last century.

Save for the abnormal joining of their bodies, Violet and Daisy are just like any two ordinary 16-year-old girls.

And save for the fact that one must go wherever the other goes, they enjoy the same pastimes and diversions any girls of 16 would enjoy.

Fond of Games
They're fond of cards, checkers and dominoes. But both don't always play the same at the same time.

The other night Daisy was engaged in beating her uncle at dominoes while Violet, brows puckered was trying to disentangle herself from the intricacies of a high bid in bridge.

Both girls like to read. But while one reads Oliver Twist, the other may be thrilled by a movie serial.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

in the Ward County Farm bureau offices in Minot with Clyde B. Nelson, secretary of the farm bureau, in charge.

Efforts to have a state and federal bureau, such as conducted in Minot last year, were unsuccessful.

Exorbitant wage demands on the part of the laborers could not be tolerated this year, Mr. Nelson stated.

Following a conference it was decided to appeal to Joseph A. Kitchen, commissioner of agriculture and labor. Mr. Kitchen was reached by telephone at Bismarck and consented to have his department finance the labor bureau until the farmers are provided with help for the spring's work.

MILITARY BALL

Devils Lake N. D., April 24.—Military equipment of the Devils Lake Howitzer company, unit of the North Dakota National guard, formed the setting for the company's first annual ball here. The equipment consisted of two Stokes mortars, two 37 millimeter guns, two field telephones, bolo knives, army packs, search light signal flags and Springfield rifles.

Flags of the Allies, combined with red, white and blue canopies, completed the patriotic decorations.

For Raw Sore Throat

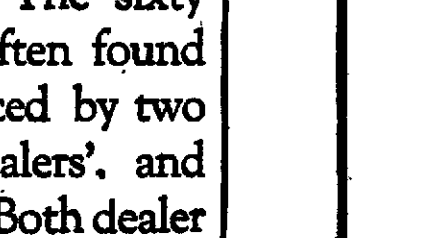

At the first sign of a raw, sore throat rub on a little Musterole with your fingers.

It goes right to the spot with a gentle tingle, loosens congestion, draws out coarseness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It has all the strength of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use. 35 and 65 cents in jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.

BETTER THAN A MUSTARD PLASTER

Millions saved through elimination of non-essentials. When buying Certain-teed products, the public is not forced to pay, in these economical days, for waste in needless items. The sixty different shades of paint often found in a single store, are replaced by two dozen at Certain-teed dealers' and ample selection is allowed. Both dealer and customer profit by the saving effected in cutting out unnecessary stocks. Our tremendous output, wasteless distribution and relentless elimination of frills enable you to purchase highest quality at a price you can afford to pay.
